Elevations Distributes $350,000 in Flood Relief Aid

Boulder, CO — Elevations Foundation, working in concert with Elevations Credit Union, wasted little time in getting critical relief dollars to local aid agencies this week. The Foundation created a flood relief fund on September 17th. Over the course of 14 days, the Foundation received over $250,000 in donations. These donations, coupled with a $100,000 challenge grant by Elevations Credit Union enabled a $350,000 distribution on October 1st. Funds were distributed to Foothills United Way, Boulder County Community Services and United Way of Larimer County. “The sooner we were able to get these funds to our aid agency partners, the sooner our victims are able to begin rebuilding their lives,” said Dennis Paul, Assistant Vice President of Business and Community Development at Elevations Credit Union and Vice Chair of the Elevations Foundation. All dollars collected are earmarked for temporary housing for those individuals and families displaced by the disaster. “We could not be more proud of our community. All three agencies expressed their immense gratitude for Elevations and its Foundation for helping marshal these funds to benefit those in tremendous need, while also expressing how timely the funds are,” said Gerry Agnes, Elevations Credit Union President and CEO. “We are humbled by the outpouring of support from our membership, our partners and many communities within Colorado and throughout the country,” Agnes went on to say.

Elevations Foundation is still receiving donations and will likely be able to distribute an additional $25,000 - $50,000 in the ensuing weeks.

Elevations Credit Union continues to support flood victims through its flood hotline and resource page that can be accessed at the credit union's website, www.elevationcu.com.
